Meeting of the Athletic Council

"T's" Awarded

At a meeting of the Athletic Council, held on February 5th, the baseball letters were awarded to those men who played in a sufficient number of games. The names of the men, who were thus honored are:—

GOLDMAN (Capt. 1918)
BERLIN
MULLANEY
FORSAITH
ASHWORTH (Mgr. 1918)

Out of this group there are but six attending school at the present time. This however should be enough material on which to build a strong team. There should be some material in the Freshmen class, who will be expected to go out for the team and keep these fellows on the jump. With everybody helping Old Textile will have such a team, that the people in Lowell will wake up to the fact that there is such a thing as a Lowell Textile School in their midst, and we may be able to get a little space in the local papers, that have always helped us so generously in this respect in the past.

Baseball Captain Elected

On February 6th the following letter men held a meeting for the purpose of electing a captain for the season of 1919:—

Goldman (Capt. 1918), Mullaney, Berlin, Sweet, Noone, Forsaith.

The result was that John Mullaney was chosen for the office. Jack came to the Lowell Textile School after graduating from Lowell High. He failed to report for baseball practice until his third year, but soon made up for lost time by becoming the heaviest hitter on the team. He is the only fourth year man in school who possesses a baseball letter. "Jack" says that if the baseball season is not a success this year it will not be because he did not try hard to have a winning team. We are confident that he will not be disappointed and that he will have the unified support of the entire school

MOREY AT MALDEN HIGH

Former L. T. S. Coach Making Good As Physical Director

From all reports our old friend and coach, Dave Morey, is making a great success as physical director at Malden High School. We, certainly, are glad to hear of his good work, and hope that success continues to come his way. The following is a clipping taken from one of the daily papers:

David Morey, director of physical culture and athletics of the Malden High School, has evolved a brand new exercise for the use of his pupils who are fond of athletics. It is boxing, which has rarely been tried in any public school in New England. To see a class of 70 or 80 boys, all in unison, going through the motions of shadow boxing, and to see pairs of them donning the gloves and giving a first-class exhibition of the manly art is some departure from the old-time idea of school education. It would doubtless shock many parents, too, to have their boys being taught what hitherto has seemed to be the lowest kind of sport.

It was a complete surprise to the boys to be asked by Coach Morey a short time ago if they would like to be taught boxing. There was an instant response and over 100 boys affirmed their opinion that it was the best thing in the athletic line that could be done. Now there are nearly 150 boys in the classes that are held three times a week, two in the afternoon and one in the evening, for boys who go to school in the morning and work in the afternoon.

It was made plain that it was not pugilism that was to be taught, but exercise in the manly art to bring health to the boys and to set them up in the best physical condition. Coach Morey when a student at Dartmouth thought then if he ever had a chance he would introduce the sport into any organization where he should teach athletics. He has the co-operation of Principal Jenkins and of the Faculty Athletic Manager, L. O. Johnson, who are much interested in the experiment.

"It is not to emphasize pugilism," says Coach Morey, "that we have introduced this exercise to the boys, but solely to increase the interest in school sports and to improve the health of the boys, their quickness of eye and brain and their general physical condition."

"I got the idea first when I was trying to think of some way of increasing the interest in the athletic portion of the education of the boys. Then I thought of what boxing did for me in a physical and mental way in college and decided to try it here if the authorities would allow it.

"I wished to get all the boys in the school interested in athletics of some kind and concluded the quickest way was to give boxing lessons. It is an exercise that far outrivals all other exercise except swimming, which is the best of all. I talked with the principal about it and the only objection it was felt could come would be in giving up some of the regular school hours to it.

"Then we arranged to have the classes out of the regular lesson hours, which I have done. I always give half an hour of setting-up exercises and then follow that with shadow boxing, which is a grand exercise in itself.

"I am going to be very careful not to carry it too far and there will be no danger of brutality or too much roughness in the exercise. It will be carried on solely for the physical exercise and good it will do the pupils. The United States Army authorities have paid a lot of attention to boxing as a sport that put the men in the best of condition, and what the Army authorities recommend surely has some merit.

"The exercise develops the heart, lungs and abdomen of the participants. Many military rejections were made during the war because of the weakness of these organs."

Seventy-five boys lined up in military formation in the gymnasium of the

Y. M. C. A. Man Coming

Stewart a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Y. M. C. A. at that institution will visit the school for two days, February 17 and 18. Coming, as he does, from a school of technology where the Association is strong and successful he is in a position to give us helpful information about the work there. He can tell us whether or not the "Y" is an asset to Worcester "Tech."

It is hoped that every member of the Faculty and every undergraduate may make a special effort to meet Stewart. It will be announced later where he will be located while here.

Alumni News

Many of the Alumni will sincerely regret to hear of the death of Eliot B. Plummer, class of 1913, which occurred recently at Saylesville, R. I. He is survived by a wife and child. Mr. Plummer was a member of the Delta Kappa Phi fraternity, and was one of the finest type of men that ever graduated from the Lowell Textile School.

Albert Sturtevant, class of 1916, textile inspector in the Quartermaster Corps has received his discharge and returned to his home in Lowell.

Sergts. E. W. Clark, '18, and Harold W. Steigler, '18, received their discharges last month from the Chemical Warfare Section at Washington, D. C. They are now with the National Aniline Color Company at Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Arthur K. Johnson, instructor in microscopy recently obtained his discharge from the service of Uncle Sam.

Lieut. Frank L. McCool, Textile '10, is reported safely back from "Over There."

Capt. "Cog." Welsh, Q. M. C., U. S. A., Textile '08, has been stationed in Washington, D. C., for the past ten months.

Purcell, '18, has recently received his discharge from the C. W. S. of U. S. Army and has registered for a special course in Textile Chemistry and Dyeing.

Mr. Francis C. Holden, class of 1909, was in Lowell last Friday and made a short visit at the school.

Mr. Everett B. Moore was also a visitor of the school last week. Mr. Moore graduated in the year 1905.

Omicron Pi Smoker

Many Alumni Present

The Omicron Pi Fraternity held their Freshman Smoker last Friday evening at the Spaulding House. An atmosphere of good fellowship prevailed throughout the entire gathering.

The following alumni and guests were present: Mr. J. F. Dewey, '04, Mr. R. P. White, '04, Mr. E. B. Moore, '05, Mr. J. M. Wood, '20, Mr. F. E. Silcox, '21, Prof. L. A. Olney, Mr. A. A. Stewart, '00, Mr. L. H. Cushing, and Mr. W. B. Holt.

EDITORIAL

Our "GYM" fund failed to get a good start the other night, when the proposed dance had to be abandoned. At the time the notice was inserted in the paper very little was said in connection with this fund. WHY do we need a new gym? WHAT will be its advantages? HOW will it help the school as a whole?

These are three questions which might be asked of any new scheme in connection with the school. They were the very questions we answered in connection with "The Text," in our first issue.

Why do we need a new gym? This question is self answered when we glance at the old one. In itself it is very good, but it only makes up one part of a complete whole. Our need is a separate building that has not only the floor and indoor track in it, but plenty of showers, a swimming pool, lockers, etc.

What will be its advantages? Here again we hardly need say anything. Every fellow that ever took the "Physical Torture" course had very little interest in it owing to the lack of a good gym. Therefore he did not derive the good that the course was intended to give him. It certainly would be a mistake to establish such training again with the old equipment. The advantages, which would be offered by a new gym to all branches of athletics, are self apparent.

How will it help the school? A new GYM will put the school up among other institutions of prominence in athletics. As matters stand now, visiting teams must wonder what kind of a bunch we are when they see the accommodations we have to offer them. Then, too, the fellows will take more of an interest in athletics, and we will not be restricted to baseball, football, and hockey. In the old gym basketball could be practiced, but as far as staging a game there is concerned, it could not be done. In a new gym games could not only be played but a basketball team could be turned out that would go a long way to making the L. T. S. better known.

It is very true that the erection of such a building would be an expensive proposition now, but as the old saying goes, anything worth while is worth paying for, and here is certainly a cause that is worth while.

THINK IT OVER. TALK IT UP. L. T. S. NEEDS A NEW GYM.

HONOR LIST

Military and Naval Service Record

The list, which follows, is the honor list of the Lowell Textile School. It is a list of which we should all be proud. Its length certainly shows that the men, who attended L. T. S., were ready and willing to sacrifice their very lives, if need be, for their country.

We are able to publish only a part of the names this week, but will continue it in the next issues until it is complete.

school building at one of the lessons given recently. There were small urchins of 15 and older boys of 19, but all were as intent on the work in hand as though they intended to follow fighting as a profession.

They were marched up and down the hall in twos and then in fours and finally came to a sharp halt in extended order throughout the hall. Then they stood with arms outstretched, and, whirling around and stooping over, threw one hand to the floor. Whirling about again the other hand was touched to the floor and so on until the whole bunch was thoroughly warmed up and ready for the serious work.

Then, at a word from the coach, feet danced back and forth in the latest setting-up exercise of the army. After half an hour of steady work at calisthenics the boxing began.

"On guard," yelled the coach, and every boy set himself for an imaginary fray. "Left jab to the head offence," came the sharp order and quick as lightning every boy was there in most approved fashion. Then the left jab to the head in defense was gone through time and again, followed by the left hook to the jaw in both offense and defense.

Some boys grasped the difficult balance and quickness of motion much more readily than others, but they all went into it with interest and enthusiasm for the boys hate to stop.

Dave Morey, the coach, is a graduate of the Malden High School and was a famous athlete of Dartmouth, from which he was graduated in 1913. He was football captain of the Dartmouth freshmen team and then played three years on the varsity. Walter Camp named Morey in his All American eleven as a half back. He also played on the Dartmouth baseball team for four years, the last year being captain of the team.

After his graduation he was with the Athletics as a pitcher for a year, but decided that his real forte was teaching. He carried on wrestling classes as well as swimming and other sports in the Malden High and, although this is his first winter with the school, he has brought the interest in athletics up to a high point.

Commencement Plans Now Being Drawn Up

Plans for the Commencement this spring have already been started. It is planned to make the exercises more interesting and enjoyable than ever before. A meeting of the graduating class will be called by President Stevens in the near future, at which such plans will be further drawn up and discussed. If you have any ideas on Class Days, Class Odes, Proms, etc.; get them together and put Lowell Textile on the map as regards Commencement.

FACT AND COMMENT

Old Ray Clogston (1904), came out of the woods early this week and took a lesson in contemporary history.

Word came from Henry S. Adams, 1905, this week that the mill business is temporarily stagnated. He also reports that southern mill villages were hard hit by the "Flu" and suggests that if such epidemics are to be frequent, a course in medicine be added to the work at L. T. S.

Dick Richardson, 1913, has recently accepted a position with the Stark Mills of Manchester, N. H.

Ben Shaw has recently been promoted to the superintendency of the Boston Duck Mills of Bondsville, Mass.

Frank C. Holden, '09, paid a visit to his acquaintances at the school recently. "Chick" will be remembered as one of the best basket ball players ever turned out at Textile.

A new and extremely interesting exhibit of American dyestuffs, which are manufactured and sold by the National Aniline Color Company,* has been added to the museum in the Chemistry department.

Mr. Lucius Smith, Worcester "Tech," 1918, and recently discharged from the U. S. A. Signal Corps, Fort Sevier, S. C., was the guest of his brother, Herbert Smith, 1922, during the past week.

QUESTION OF RETURNING UNIFORMS

Ever since the discharge of the students from the S. A. T. C. there has been more or less confusion as to whether the uniforms are to be returned or not. There have also been many rumors and unofficial reports concerning the same in the newspapers. At the present time however the matter is entirely undecided. The House of Representatives has already passed a bill to this effect, stating that all men discharged since the signing of the armistice will be allowed to keep their uniforms permanently. As to whether this bill will become law or not no one can predict, but one factor that will help it along is the fact that the difficulty and expense of locating the men who failed to make the proper return would be too great. Any official news on this subject however will be given out either in The Text or from the bulletin boards.
